MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 23, 1866.

Utah in Congress.

It appears from the [illegible] of recent telegrams from Washington that the House Committee on Territories has been busily engaged in collecting testimony concerning the condition of affairs in Utah. While journals in the interest of the Mormon church leaders may talk about the law-abiding and crimeless lives of men—who have for the past eighteen years defied law and sanctioned such crimes as the Mountain Meadow massacre, the murder of Forbes, Parish, Potter, Dike and Brassfield, and counselled the session of Gentiles to "hell across lots"—holding up these as paragons of virtue and religion, we opine that Justice, sometimes slow and tardy, but never erring in the final issue, will carefully weigh the moral condition of church leaders in Utah, and affix to them the responsibility for crimes committed which here in Utah, in ordinary conversation, no shame is made to deny. With the information now known to be in the possession of the House Committee on Territories, there can be but little doubt as regards the future policy of the Government in dealing with the polygamy question. The nation will learn through the report of that committee what a fearful system is existing within the confines of the Government and which has heretofore defied law and religion and with this knowledge will come the demand for the Government to enforce its laws in Utah just as it enforces them in every other territory of the nation, and we think the laws will be enforced if it takes ten thousand men to accomplish the work. The church leaders in Utah have long enjoyed the fruits of their fraud upon religion. Temporary success now, with them, are like the feeble flickerings of an expiring candle. They will be short lived. Justice is on their track, and whether it be a few weeks or a few months longer makes no difference. They are certain to suffer the penalty of outraged law and humanity.

[Forney's Press.]

An Ill-conditioned Empire.

It is recorded that in days departed, a beau of "the period," attired in full costume, visited a lunatic asylum, where he was immediately surrounded by some of the more moderate inmates, to whom his remarkable appearance was a cause of some excitement, in a small way. One of these, noticing the sword which he wore, according to the fashion of the last century, drew it partly out of its scabbard, and demurely asked, "What is this for?" The man of fashion replied, "To kill my enemies with," but was met with the quick retort, "Why kill them?" They appear as if the Empire of Mexico is in the condition of the fine gentleman's enemies; there is little occasion to combat it, for its impecuniosity is so great and depressing that, if left to itself, it must soon and surely collapse. If the effort now being made in Paris, to obtain a third Mexican loan (of $100,000,000, this time), be successful, the existence of the mushroom "empire" may be prolonged, for a short time, perhaps. Otherwise, it must soon go by the board. The expenditure of the Mexican Government was about $45,000,000, and the revenue was only $22,500,000 in the year 1865. Thus the money spent has exactly doubled the money received, and, "according to Cocker," such a condition does not precisely pay. In 1864 the deficit was $60,000,000. There are due to France from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 for war expenses, so that over $100,000,000 are required to square accounts up to the close of 1865. France, nobody doubts, will pay herself by seizing, occupying, annexing and retaining part of the Mexican territory. As for the dupes in Europe, who, under a sort of implied backing-up of Mexican promises-to-pay, let their money slide into Maximilian's purse—that bottomless reservoir!—it is extremely doubtful whether the accruing interest on the foreign debts of the new empire will be paid. If the mere interest be not provided for, the chances of ever repaying the loans are probably very few and remarkably far between.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

San Francisco, April 13.

The steamer Sacramento has arrived. The news of the entire defeat of the Spanish squadron by the Chilians and Peruvians is confirmed. The allied squadron consisted of the frigate Apurimac, 30 guns; Peruvian corvette America, 12 guns; Peruvian corvette Union, 12 guns; Peruvian dispatch boat Covadonga, 3 guns; Chilian—in all mounting 75 guns. The Spanish vessels were the frigate Blanco, 36 guns; frigate Villa de Madrid, 50 guns—in all 86 guns. For about two hours a most earnest cannonading was kept up, the fire of the allies being well regulated throughout. The Blanco was rendered almost useless and unable to continue the fight. She dropped behind an island and endeavored to do damage by throwing shell over the island upon the allies. Her cabin was knocked to pieces. Of the killed and wounded the number must have been very heavy, judging from the dead bodies afterward seen floating about. The other vessel suffered badly also, and both soon cleared out. Most unfortunately the machinery of the Apurimac was on shore and the America and Union could not leave their anchorage. Otherwise these ships would most assuredly have fallen a prize to the bravery and skill of the allies. Their loss amounts to a trifle. Chilanian men were killed in the action, and the damage to the vessels scarcely worth mentioning.

FIRE AT DENVER.—The soap and candle factory at the foot of E street was entirely consumed by fire at about five o'clock this morning. The loss must be quite heavy, but we have been unable to learn the amount. There was probably no insurance. Information about the fire, as we were the first to announce the fact of the fire, was brought to the Fire Department by Lander Co. No. 1, one of whom was an assistant foreman. The building was entirely isolated, and was the only one injured.—News, 12th.

From Nevada.

Mr. Magee, the traveling correspondent of the San Francisco Alta, writing from Austin, Nevada, under date of April 4th, says:

[illegible] rows on [illegible] has made rapid strides since it was founded three years ago, having a permanent population of full five thousand, and boasting one of nearly half that number.

There have been no amusements here for some time, if I except the Bray Minstrel Troupe, who have been here and done well, the past three months. Walter is a team in himself. The entire troupe, consisting of ten performers, took their departure for Salt Lake City yesterday. By the way, Flora Bray, the great pet of the Austinites, was the recipient of a Benefit about a week ago, when, in addition to the receipts from an overflowing house, she had a purse of nigh $200 thrown on the stage, and was presented with a goodly-sized silver brick, and goblet, gotten up by the leading men of the place.

MINING NEWS.

Large mills are being erected in this district, and to the credit of their builders, they are splendid structures. Two especially, the Boston and Manhattan, twenty stamps, put up at a cost of over $100,000 each, are two of the finest mills in the country, and when in running order, which will be about the latter end of this month, will undoubtedly add largely to the shipments of bullion from this place, as they belong to mines of decided richness—the Naiad Queen and Oregon. There have been, unquestionably, many instances of foolish extravagance here, as regards mill building, caused, in most cases, by the impractical ideas of the Superintendents appointed, and, as a consequence, bad engineering; but capitalists have suddenly woke up, and, with a few exceptions, the Superintendents are now practical men, experienced in the best and quickest mode of working and reducing ores, and at the least possible outlay.—Though this reform has taken place but very lately, it has had a telling effect already, for the reason that capitalists visiting that section invest with a confident belief of a sure and speedy return, with interest, of the money so expended. It is therefore not expecting too much, when we look forward to the working of all the mills in the neighborhood now lying idle, deserted, except by the watchman, at no very distant day, and where a death-like silence has heretofore reigned, the life-giving sounds to both capitalist and workman of the rattling of stamps and the noise of machinery in busy motion.

MILLING.

According to the most accurate estimates, there are in this country, at present, in running order, and in course of erection, twenty-five mills, numbering in the aggregate 450 stamps. Of this number of stamps there are but 35 running, but, as I stated before, the most of them are expected to be soon employed. The average cost of the 25 mills is about $80,000 each, a low estimate, at which rate each stamp, when in running order, would cost the sum of about $4,444, thereby making the whole cost of mills and necessary machinery thereto, nearly $2,000,000, showing that the 35 stamps, in actual running, at the country in the sum of $1,856,000, or $52,742 per stamp, through the working of which 35 stamps the net profits of the mines are at present derived. It may, therefore be imagined how different will be the result when the whole number of stamps in the country are running.

PROGRESS.

Another great stride towards the advancement of the country on a sure basis is the fact that men locating mines which they consider good instead of trying to run them into market, as almost fabulous in richness, and trying to get a price for them as fabulous, are now going steadily to work themselves, to work their mines, in erecting mills, and otherwise developing them. This of itself must prove highly beneficial, as it does not introduce false capital, and does not drive this section of country beyond its legitimate speed, as has been done in Virginia and some other places. Here they may be going slowly, but, nevertheless, surely, to work, which, it is confidently surmised, will at no very distant future, place Reese River and vicinity, in point of rich-yielding quartz mines, second to no district in the State of Nevada.

There are a number of good mines around Austin, which, when they get fairly to work on them, will, it is fully and with confidence believed, pay well. I allude more particularly to the Savage, Oregon, Great Eastern, Mettacom, Roanoke, Foster, Naiad Queen, and Silver Chamber. Some of these, such as the Savage, have been paying well, with an average yield from the rock of $200 per ton, and the others about $150. The Roanoke has now in course of erection a mill, which, when completed, will cost $125 000.

So far, I believe this to be the most practicable, quickest, and decidedly least expensive route to Montana; the stages taking only eight days from Sacramento to Virginia City, Montana Territory.

THE correspondent of the S. F. Call, writing from Ruby City, gives the following copy of a notice which he found posted up in his boarding house:

"Rules and Regulations: Board must be paid in advance; with beans, $15; without beans, $12; salt, free; boarders not permitted to speak to the cook; no extras allowed; potatoes for dinner; cocketing strictly forbidden; no whistling while eating; gentlemen are expected to wash out of doors, and find their own water; no charges for ice; towels, bags, at the end of the house; extra charges for seats around the stove; lodgers must find their own straw for beds; beds on the billiard table and floor reserved for regular customers; persons sleeping in the bar are requested not to take off their boots; loafers inside rise at five A. M.; in the stable, at seven; each man sweeps up his own bed; no quartz taken at the bar; no fighting allowed at the table; specimens must invariably be left on the outside of the house. Any one violating the above rules, will be shot without further notice."

PROFESSOR GOLDRICK, of the Salt Lake Vedette, arrived in town on Monday evening last, having just arrived from an extended tour through the Territory. Mr. Goldrick's letters to the Vedette, from the country are eliciting considerable interest, written as they are in the most terse and graphic style.—Montana Democrat, April 12th.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

GENERAL NEWS.

New York, April 20.

A fearful explosion occurred on the steamer European at Aspinwall on the 3d, destroying the ship and four hundred feet of the wharf. Supposed nitre Glycerine. About fifty persons were killed among them the Captain and officers.

News from the southern coast gives little hope of a speedy settlement of the Chilian difficulty. Little progress is being made by either of the belligerents. There was some talk of bombarding Valparaiso, but it was not considered likely. No attempt had been made by the Spaniards to take possession of the Churches.

Fire Marshal Baker, under instructions from Mayor Hoffman, to-day seized about three hundred pounds of nitric Glycerine, stored up town, also a large quantity on board a ship in the harbor, and arrested Col. Otto Barstenbinder, for shipping a quantity to California, the same that exploded there.

The damage caused by the explosion at Aspinwall is estimated at one million dollars, of which the officers of the Panama Railroad in this city estimate the loss of that company at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The nitro-Glycerine was shipped on board the European by Gion & Co. of Liverpool, as Glymoil oil. The nitro-Glycerine seized by Marshal Baker as above arrived about a week ago from Hamburg. At that time the authorities did not know the dangerous nature of the articles, and it was placed in a public store. The whole amount seized has been placed in a safe magazine where there is no possibility of its explosion or destroying life or property. In future no nitro Glycerine will be admitted into any public stores. Col. Barnstenbinder formerly commanded an Ohio regiment.

Washington, April 20.

The House passed a bill, yeas 106, nays 13 giving L. Day, of Baltimore county, Maryland, an annuity of $421.50, for his heroism in defending the national flag against Gilmore's rebel raiders, July 1864, it appearing that he was 74 years old and defended the flag, while the rebels in retaliation destroyed his property, valued at seven or eight thousand dollars.

The awards for the arrest of Booth have been divided—Capt. Dougherty, 16th New York cavalry, $7,500; Detectives Conger and L. B. Baker, $4,000 each. Detective General Lafayette C. Baker, $3,700; Boston Corbett, $3,000; Privates 16th cavalry, about $2,000 each.

Chicago, April 20.

The reported death of Ole Bull, which has caused such extensive obituary notices, is now denied and it is stated that he is not in the country.

The New York Senate has killed the Broadway underground Railroad bill, also the Crosstown road bill. It is understood to foreshadow the defeat of the whole batch of New York street Railroad bills.

The New York Legislature has passed the Niagara ship canal bill, amended so as to kill it by providing that the act shall not go into effect until after the enlargement of the Erie and Oswego canals.

From Idaho.

The Avalanche of the 14th furnishes the following items:

Col. T'Vault has returned from his trip to Oregon. The material for the Democratic paper in Owyhee (of which we gave some account several months ago) was at Umatilla awaiting shipment the first reliable opportunity.

Mr. Geo. C. Woodman, of Idaho City, has received notice that he has been appointed Assessor of Internal Revenue for the District of Idaho, in place of Mr. Bodfish, deceased.

The Oregon Union Convention, which met at Corvalis, March 29th, nominated ted the following State ticket: For Congress, Rufus Mallory, of Marion; for Governor, Geo. L. Woods, of Wasco; for Secretary of State, Samuel E. May, of Marion; for State Treasurer, E. N. Cooke, of Marion; for State Printer, W. A. McPherson, of Linn. The Democracy were to meet in Convention at Portland on the 5th inst.

Diamond excitement has been lively this week. On Wednesday parties came in and exhibited finer looking specimens than at any previous time. Some of them closely resembled the one exhibited by Caleb Lyon. We informed that they contained spots of uncrystalized carbon easily distinguishable. Many new prospectors, confident of success, have gone to the district.

PRESERVATION OF TIMBER IN MINES.—The San Francisco Miner, speaking of the methods of preserving the timbers used in mining claims, thinks that the cheapest and best is by a solution of the sulphates of copper, applied to the wood; and gives the following as an illustration:

"In an ancient copper mine in the south of Spain—the Mina de Riotonto—which is known to have been worked upwards of 1800 years ago, the timbers that support the drifts run in those remote ages, are as stout and strong to-day as when they were first set up, their preservation being due to the presence of sulphates of copper in the waters that percolate through the rocks over the timbers."

FEARFUL PROSPECT.—There seems to be a decidedly belligerent tone in the recent utterances of the Mormon papers and preachers. They are growling fearfully at Uncle Sam, and threaten to make the old gentleman smell gunpowder if he interferes with their connubial privileges. One venerable but pugnacious old saint, according to the Salt Lake Vedette, recently went around town in a fearful state of excitement declaring that "war was coming," and that the "saints must get ready to fight for their women." He led a dilapidated steed by the bridle, which he wanted to swap for a gun, and "prepare for battle."—S. F. Chronicle.

THE Montana Post, in speaking of the assassination of Brassfield, says: Not satisfied with covert hostility to the Government of the United States, the murderer and the law-breaker now stand out in open defiance of constituted authority. Matters will now come to a crisis. Who rules in the Territory of Utah will soon be known. We await further tidings with anxiety.

THERE is a big bill on, at the Academy of Music, this evening.

LIBERAL.—On the occasion of Mrs. Irwin's Benefit in Virginia City, Montana, a few evenings since, she was presented with a gold brick worth $711.

Y. M. I. ASSOCIATION.—There will be a business meeting of the Association this evening. A full attendance is requested, as there is business of importance to be transacted.

NATIONAL BANK.—Attention is called to the certificate from the Comptroller of Currency, authorizing the "Miners' National Bank" of Salt Lake to commence business.

PENNSYLVANIA has enacted a law disfranchising all persons residing in that State who have deserted from the army or navy. The law is a good one and should be copied by every State in the Union.

OFF FOR MONTANA.—Gen. Stagg, late commander of the Michigan Cavalry Brigade, has started for Virginia City.—Saturday, seven six-horse coaches, well loaded with passengers, arrived en route for the same place.

GOV. DURKEE returned from Pahranagat Thursday evening. He expressed himself highly pleased with the prospect in that Mining District, and does not think previous reports have been exaggerated.

CHICAGO still maintains her supremacy as the largest grain market in the world. For the last year the receipts of grain, flour and wheat, aggregate 23,623,853 bushels, showing an increase of 7,671,095 bushels.

AN exchange says that the probable reason why the President withdrew the Government advertising from Forney's Chronicle was, that Forney being a "dead duck," he should not be allowed to insert his "bill" into the Treasury.

THE St. Joseph Trade Board has appointed Col. Harbine, Chas. B. Wilkinson and Samuel Hays, a committee to prepare and issue an address to the people of Buchanan county on the propriety of voting for the $400,000 subscription to the railroad west from that city.

THE Denver News in its issue of April 9th, advertises as follows:

"Well made stewed shirts at Kline Bros."

We know that Kline Bros. are brimfull of enterprize, but "stewed shirts" rather get us.

THE Territorial Enterprise of the 15th says: "The topographical party of the Central Pacific Railroad, consisting of Butler Ives and twenty-one men, had reached up to yesterday as far as Stone & Gates' Crossing, on the Truckee river, and will start from there on Monday next, towards Salt Lake City, which place they will in all probability reach in two months, completing the railroad survey in the meantime. This party go well fixed for the trip, and will, under the able management of Ives, get through all right."

WANDERERS.—"Nearly every day," says the Territorial Enterprise, "we see long-haired individuals astride half-breed nags, blankets strapped upon their saddles, and with shot guns in their hands, passing along the streets. Ask them which way they are traveling, and the invariable answer is, 'Montana.' They ride with an independent kind of swagger, and there is a sort of knowing look worn by them and leaking out of the corners of their eyes, which says, 'I am after a big thing, and bet yer life I'll strike it! Trust a 49 er for that!' Not one of these men would swap places with the President. Although they have followed after every excitement during the last ten years, and have been a hundred times disappointed, they are never discouraged and never will be so long as they can hear of new places to go to in search of the 'big thing.'"

ITEM.—After retiring Saturday night, we were startled by the firing of several pistol shots, in quick succession, on the street. We thought of Brassfield, and wondered if another victim was being offered up to appease the thirst for blood of the sanguinary demon of polygamy. We listened, hoping that, if so, this time the intended victim had become the avenger, and would wreak it, even though he should have to chase the hell-hounds into the very doors of their master's house, towards which they all instinctively flee when pursued, as wolves run to their dens for safety when the hunter follows on their trail. God speed the lucky bullet which shall enable us to track them by their blood.—We know the direction to their den—sometime the murderous aim may miss, and then the hyena will be hunted to his hole, or be overtaken and made to speak his master's name, if the secret has to be wrung from his convulsed lips by torture. Heaven will yet deliver the guilty into the hands of justice.

(FOR THE TERRITORIAL ENTERPRISE.)

THE CLOCK.

The clock of the household! the sound of thy bell
Tells the hours, and to many it tells
But to me thou canst preach with the tongue of a sage,
And whisper old tales from life's earliest page.

Thou bringest back visions of heart-bounding times,—
When thy hideous strike chorused the loud carol chimes;
When our Christmas was noted for festival mirth,
And the merry New Year had a boisterous birth.

Thou hast always been nigh, thou hast looked upon all,—
On the birth, on the bridal, the cradle and pall;
To the infant at play, and the sire turning grey,
Thou hast spoken the warning of passing away.

My race may be run, while thy musical chime
Will be still ringing out in the service of time.
And the clock of the household will shine in the room,
When I, the forgotten one, sleep in the tomb.

"AMERICA" IN A BALL-ROOM.—At a fancy dress ball, given in Paris, ladies represented the continents of the world, and, says a correspondent, "America was certainly the most effective costume. That immense continent was personated by the beautiful, delicate-looking Miss Carter, who wore a white dress with a sky-blue satin peplum over it, the latter studded all over with silver stars. Her coronet was composed of diamond stars, doubtless to recall the stars on the United States flag. America was always followed by another beautiful young girl, very simply dressed, to personate, it is said, but I know not with what truth, a released slave."

AN OMITTED VERSE.—On Ash Wednesday of this year, says the New Orleans Advocate, religious services were held in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church of that city, on which occasion the officiating clergyman selected the fifty-ninth hymn, which was singularly appropriate to the day, but requested the congregation to omit the third verse, which is as follows:

"And can'st Thou still Thou yet forgive,
And bid my crime remove?
And shall a pardon'd REBEL live
To speak thy wond'rous love?"
